

Dear Mrs. Gallant,

Now that your gone im hurt inside. I was afraid to show how really hurt I was. but in the past few weeks I've realised it doesn't matter what people think. You're in Heaven and thats all that matters. Even though your gone and stay you will always be a part of me. I promise to help other people who are having a rough time. Even though your gone your passing has brought me Strenth, Courage and also tears. But even though everyone will miss you more than anything. I will never forget how much you showed me. Even though you never taught me I am still your student. I know you ~~didn't~~ know me that well

I think everyone would. But I guess what im
Trying to say is GOODBYE I'll miss you and Thanks.

From: The Girl Who Was
Afraid To Show and Tell Her
Emotions,

Kailie Hopkinson
